He adds that "it is not as a returning hero that Jesus will be restored, and not as a beatified saint nor as an "individual to be worshiped and exalted above others," but as one of the "wise, of blessed memory, who express the national genius of the people.

Dr. Wolfson, makes his forecast in a final, memorial issue of "The Menorah Journal," published in honor of its late editor. Henry

"The Jewish reclamation of Jesus will not be brought about by efforts of evangelical piety on the part of some Jews, or by a sent mental yearning for what we haven't got," he says.

"It will come about as a result of a wider and more comprehen sive conception of the scope of Jewish learning and Jewish liter ature and of a general restoration of our lost literary treas-

Noting that Jesus has been better known among non-Jews than among Jews" because of circumstances, Wolfson says Judaim nonetheless has absorbed much Christian in-

"A century of infiltration of Christian ideas into our life through all the agencies of education has robbed many of us of our essential Jewish character, he says. "In everything that guides our life and determines our views thereof, we have become Christianized, for we have somehow accepted Christ if not in the theological sense of a Savior at least in the historical sense of a civil-

As for the traditional Jewish position on Jesus, Dr. Wolfson says "Jesus is not a rejected prophet; at best he is a rejected

"The Jews did not put a limit to the books of the Bible in order to keep Jesus out: Jesus simply happened to come at a time when that body of literature, in the opinion of the authorities of the time, was practically closed."

As for incorporation of Jesus' teachings into Jewish lore, Dr Wolfson says:

"The person of Jesus as conceived in the manner of the various forms of Christology could never find a place in Judaism, for it is altogether foreign to its fundamental principles. As the promised Messiah, he simply did not meet the conditions."

But there is a place for him as a great rabbi, Dr. Wolfson says. He foresees stories of Jesus being included in Jewish Haggadah-type narrations, for reading and telling, with one perhaps going like this:

"Come and see, how great is the power of Israel. Once there was a child in Galilee. He was taken captive and carried off into the great city of Rome There they made a God of him; but some say they made of him only a son of God, and others say only a prophet of God. "They built temples and churches to his name in every land, and each nation worshiped him according to its tongue, according to its manner, and according to its custom. But the mind of the child was not at rest until he returned to Galilee and saw his name inscribed in an ancient torpe among the names of his castigated pharisees

This, says Dr Wolfson, "is how the Jews will reclaim Jesus.

Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a politi cal grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

No wonder the English keep so cool!

(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink-and you will, too!)

he English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed - the world!

Year-Round

Is Easier

The trend is away from the regular spring cleaning, when the house is turned upsidedown. Some women still insist upon cleaning once in the fall. However, if yo clean one room a month, you house will always be in enviable shape and you will feel the wearand-tear less.

But if the Moscow conference is successful, President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev, and British Prime Minister Macmillan could well decide either to sign the test ban treaty personally or to meet soon after its signing to discuss broader disarmament and political issues.

Kennedy told a news conference in Washington Wednesday the possibility of a summit conference had not come up in the Moscow talks. If the subject is raised, he said, it would be considered.

A three-power communique issued Wednesday night after the third conference session gave the most optimistic official account of the negotiations.

It said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham had "made Television Programs provisions of a test ban treaty covering tests in the atmosphere. outer space, and under water."

Baker adopted Yukie through the Japanese courts, but under a recently passed U.S. Immigration law, he was told, it was necessary for both parents to have seen the child prior to adoption. One way to get around the U.S. aw was to have the state of Caliornia take jurisdiction in the ease. But California officials told Baker a preadoptive investigation was necessary under California law. An investigation couldn't be ordered because Yukie was al-
